

2014 Annual Report

“Many of my life’s obstacles were all on a rugged, rough sidewalk that was wide and thick with no cracks and no chips. PFF split open the concrete, making giant crevices and fissures. And I am the rose that bloomed through the cracks.”
 – Zion B., Class of 2014

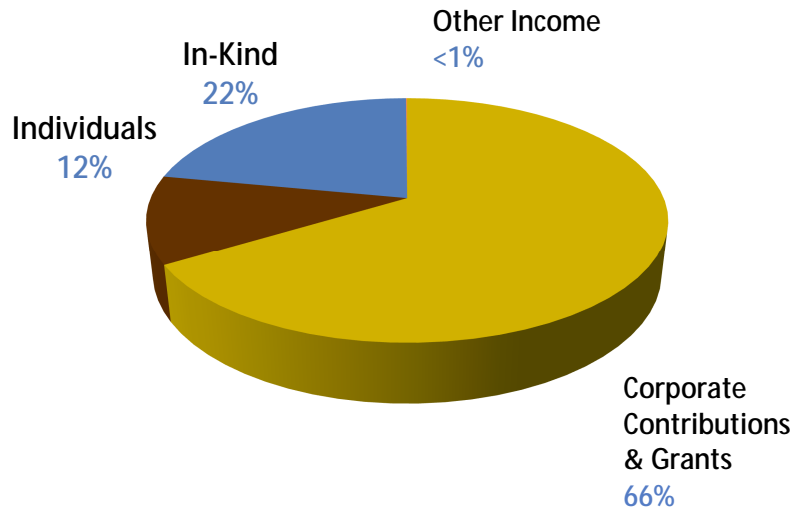

Partnership for the Future provides a holistic approach to life skills and college preparation for its students. Through cultural capital sessions, SAT/ACT Prep, professional and personal development workshops and quality internship experiences, PFF ensures that every motivated student with limited resources can matriculate to college and become successful, contributing members of society. Our model works:

- 100% of the Class of 2014 successfully graduated from high school and matriculated to college.
- The 34 graduates in the Class of 2014 earned a combined $5.5 million in scholarships.
- Students consistently earn titles such as Valedictorians, Salutatorians and Gates Millennium Scholars.
- PFF graduates matriculate to colleges such as The University of Virginia, The College of William & Mary, Syracuse University, James Madison University, Cornell University and North Carolina Agricultural & Technical State University, to name a few.
